Learn how to be an explorer in your own backyard! Would you know how to find water and food, collect plants, make a shelter and stay alive – if you were out in the bush? As you delve into this book full of the adventures of the European explorers of Australia, you will experience with them their many challenges, such as finding their way, mapping the area, trapping animals and coping with drought. Australian Backyard Explorers is filled with paintings, photos, drawings, journal extracts, interesting facts boxes and practical projects to do in your backyard.

“Brrrrr...illiant. Fascinating, fun and frrrrrreezing”
“The next best thing to going to Antarctica- it’s so cool, you will need mittens to read it”

Without the service of animals many more Australians would have lost their lives during wartime.

Maralinga- the Anangu Story is our story. We have told it for our children, our grandchildren and their grandchildren. We have told it for you. In words and pictures, Yalata and Oak Valley community members with author Christobel Mattingley, describe what happened in the Maralinga Tjarutja lands of South Australia before the bombs and after.

How long do you think you would survive in Australian bush in winter with no food and very little water? Almost 150 years ago, three young children found themselves in just such a predicament. Somehow they managed to keep going for over a week. During that time, they walked nearly 100 kilometres in a desperate bid to find their way home. Experience pioneer life in Australia in the 1860s as you join Isaac, Jane and Frankie on their remarkable journey.
